The Holocaust and Polish-Jewish Relations

Edited by Martyna Grądzka-Rejak, Adam Sitarek. This publication presents selected results of research on the extermination and Polish and Jewish relations during the Second World War, carried out by employees of the Institute of National Remembrance in recent years.

On the one hand, the overriding idea of their publication in English is to familiarize foreign readers with the scientific achievements of the employees of the Institute of National Remembrance and to encourage them to refer to the scientific publications published by the Institute, on the other hand, to introduce valuable publications into international academic circulation.
