REPORT "W" KL Auschwitz 1940-1943 by Captain Witold Pilecki, Institute of National Remembrance, Pilecki Project Committee, translated by Eva Hussain, Warsaw 2017, ISBN 978-83-8098-438

Witold Pilecki - Volunteer in Auschwitz, is a unique and symbolic man. During German occupation he was involved in underground activities against the German occupiers. As a volunteer, aware of the consequences and risks, he agreed under an assumed name - Tomasz Serafiński - to be caught in September 1940 in Warsaw and to be imprisoned by the Germans in the Auschwitz-Birkenau German concentration camp. Whilst in the camp, he coordinated the resistance movement, gathered and passed to the outside world the information about mass exterminations by the Germans against the Jewish population and their unprecedented cruelty, In April 1943, along with Jan Radziej and Edward Ciesielski he escaped from the camp. After escaping, he prepared the most important document "Report W", in which he described the situation in the German Concentration camp Auschwitz-Birkenau.

The book cover features a composite image. On the left, a color photograph shows a young man in profile, wearing a brown suit and tie. Overlaid on this is a semi-transparent, grayscale image of a man in a striped prisoner's uniform, also in profile. The background is a faded, sepia-toned photograph of a camp with several buildings and a fence. The title and author's name are printed in blue and black text on the right side.
